Mandhana Invests in Ayurvedic Co Neem Ayu

Gaurav Laghate
@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: Smriti Mandhana, the vice-captain of the Indian women's cricket team, has donned an investor's hat with her undisclosed investment in Gurgaon-based ayurvedic brand for haircare and skincare, Neem Ayu. Mandhana, who was placed ninth in the ICC Women's ODI rankings released on Tuesday, will also be the brand ambassador for the company.

"I travel and compete around the world amidst gruelling weather conditions in different time zones, hence when it comes to taking care of my hair and skin, I often find a lack of credible solutions," Mandhana said. "What made me immediately trust in Neem Ayu's brand proposition was that its foundation lies in time-tested efficacy of Indian ayurveda backed by intensive research. These products promise to show results effectively."

LOOMING CHINA CURBS Electronic players ramp up imports by 30-35%; car cos cite parts shortage

Auto & Consumer Cos Boost Imports on Supply Fears

Writankar Mukherjee & Sharmistha Mukherjee

Kolkata | New Delhi: With Covid cases once again going up in China and restrictions coming in, automobile and consumer goods makers in India are beefing up their imports to ensure there is no shortage of raw material, components and finished goods for the upcoming festive season.

Electronic companies said they are pushing up imports by 30-35% despite low demand and production cut in the last two months due to inflation, fearing stricter restrictions in China as an increase in shipping rates will have an impact on their festive-season inventory.

In the passenger vehicle segment demand remains strong despite inflationary pressures, but customers may have to wait longer if the supply situation worsens, industry executives said.

Two of the country's largest car makers, Maruti Suzuki and Hyundai Motor India said while supply constraints have eased compared to last year, visibility remains low on availability of components, especially semiconductors, due to global uncertainties.

The two companies together have bookings of nearly half a million units, with the order book expected to swell further in the upcoming festive period.

"For the first time in the Indian automobile industry, we have had two consecutive quarters with sales of over nine lakh units. But there are supply-side issues. While demand parameters remain strong the situation will become clearer once production increases," said Shashank Srivastava, senior executive director (marketing and sales) at Maruti Suzuki India.

China's Covid cases have again spiralled with newer restrictions thanks to Beijing's zero Covid policy in six cities affecting some 30 million people. This has again

Shipping rates may go up again, wiping out gains from fall in input costs

Festive season accounts for 35-45% of annual sales of most companies sent shivers down with companies fearing fresh onslaught on supply-chains apart from impacting stock markets in several countries.

Martin Schwenk, managing director & CEO at Mercedes Benz India, said there is no impact of the macro-economic issues on car demand in India which remains strong.

"The pressure is clearly on the supply chain in which we are so far not capable of letting the problems behind us. We have constraints, which cause production delays, from semiconductor parts missing to single parts missing. We are not able to adhere to our production schedules," said Schwenk.

Consumer electronics and smartphone companies expect the festive season will revive sales which have slowed down in the last few months.

Avneet Singh Marwah, chief executive of SPPL, which manufactures Kodak, Thomson and Blaupunkt brands, said the company has expanded import of components by 35% more than the usual plans due to Covid surge in China. "We had expected prices to drop, but it now looks unlikely as the fresh surge may increase shipping rates," he said.

AS SITUATION IMPROVES IN THE COUNTRY

Generic Drug Cos in No Hurry to Launch New Covid Products

Teena Thacker

New Delhi: After taking progressive measures in the last two years, the Indian generic pharmaceutical companies are going slow in investing further on Covid-19 related products as the momentum begins to shift to other therapies, some pharma executives told ET.

Dharmesh Shah, MD BDR Pharmaceuticals said that they are not in a hurry to launch anything related to Covid-19 as cases begin to ebb. India on Tuesday witnessed a dip in the daily Covid cases as the country reported 13,615 new cases in the last 24 hours.

Shah said that they have developed the API of antiviral pill Paxlovid and can manufacture it but they have decided to wait and watch. "We will see if there is any need in the country to launch it. At present cases are mild and are recovering with the conventional treatment," he told ET.

Mumbai-based BDR Pharmaceuticals, the API manufacturing company became a key player in the fight against the pandemic. It was one of the first Indian companies to produce Remdesivir—used to treat Covid-19 in hospitalised patients.

However, Shah said that tons of material of antiviral pill molnupiravir got wasted. "Therefore we are not in a hurry to launch products. We are evaluating the situation and will jump only if there is any emergency or in case the country sees a surge," he said.

Like Shah, Mankind Pharmaceuticals executive chairman RC Juneja said that they are treading carefully. He said they have already incurred losses and will have to destroy a lot of products which are nearing expiry.

As Pandemic Ebbs, Hospitals See a Rise in Elective Surgeries

A 20-30% jump being witnessed at private hospitals as people realise that they cannot postpone such procedures indefinitely

Viswanath Pilla@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: Private hospitals and clinics across the board are seeing a 20%-30% spike of elective procedures compared to pre-Covid levels, as people who have delayed or canceled for fear of Covid infections in the last two years, are now queuing up to get surgeries done.

Elective surgeries are planned in advance and don't involve a medical emergency. These procedures include joint replacements, piles, kidney stones, hernia, cataract, vascular, lipoma, cosmetic dental procedures, among others.

Elective procedures constitute about 50% of hospital revenues. Most of the procedures are borne out-of-pocket as they are not covered or partially covered by insurance. With the onset of pandemic elective procedures took a major hit.

Several top executives at private hospitals told ET that they are seeing unprecedented demand since the last two quarters, as people are realising that elective procedures may be delayed for a while but can't be postponed indefinitely, as they impact quality of life. "People are queuing up to get joint replacement surgeries, as mobility has become critical in nuclear family setup," said Dr Vikram Shah, one of India's leading orthopedic surgeons and chairman and managing director of Shalby Hospitals to ET.

Shah who shuttles between Mumbai and Ahmedabad says his clinics are buzzing with activity.

It wasn't the same in the last two years. In the first wave in 2020, joint surgeries at Shalby had dropped to 5% of its usual number of surgeries, in the second wave in 2021, it reached to 50% and now it is doing 20-30% more surgeries than pre-Covid levels.

"In Manipal context, for us electives is joint replacement surgery. We are seeing 30-40% higher numbers compared to pre-Covid level in the last 4-5 months, there is a pent up demand of the last 18-20 months, which is coming through," said Dilip Jose, MD & CEO, Manipal Hospitals.

Orthopedic is the major therapy area for Manipal Hospitals, and joint replacements that include knee and hip replacement

Biz confidence rises in June quarter; CXOs call for efforts to contain inflation, finds survey

Mumbai: Industry chieftains say the current inflationary trends should not be allowed to derail India's economic growth, which corporates must seek to ensure with supportive interventions from the government. While globally most economies look challenged on the economic growth front, industry leaders say India stood out with its higher consumer spending. Consumers in India have made good spending on both discretionary and essential items across cities and towns.

The CII Business Confidence Index (CII-BCI) for the April-June quarter recovered to 66.9, after it had moderated to 65.0 during the previous quarter amid heightened uncertainty in the business environment due to the sudden escalation in the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

During the three months ended June 30, the recovery in the BCI was broad-based, driven by an almost equal uptrend in both CSI (current situations index) and EI (expectations index) over the previous quarter. While the CSI improved to 64.3 from 62.7 the previous quarter, the EI rose to 68.2 from 66.2.

CMIE data show that the Index of Consumer Sentiment (ICS) fell 9.4% in the week ended May 29. While the ICS fell 5.9% in urban regions, the fall was much steeper at 11.4% in rural regions. The export ban on wheat and sugar and higher inflation may have caused the larger impact on rural sentiment.

"Capital investment is key to speedy and sustained economic revival and hence the government should frontload the budgeted ₹7.5 lakh crore capital expenditure to boost growth," the chairman of a leading consumer goods company said. Continued government support through both monetary policy and fiscal policy will be important to support growth.

Sanjiv Bajaj, president of the CII and chairman of Bajaj Finserv, said the government action to stabilise prices of fuel products has protected consumers to some extent.

In the long run, bringing fuel and electricity under GST and building multi-modal logistics will improve cost efficiency, he said.

Rel Retail in Talks to Partner UK's Fortnum

Co exploring exclusive partnership to set up luxury stores in India under the UK brand

Ratna Bhushan

New Delhi: Reliance Retail, the retail arm of Reliance Industries, is in talks with London-based luxury gourmet, gifting and hospitality retail chain Fortnum & Mason for an exclusive partnership for India, two executives directly aware of the development said. The British luxury department store chain is known for curated premium foods, wine and spirits, gifting and restaurants, and has a close association with the British royal family.

"Reliance Retail is in advanced talks with Fortnum & Mason to set up premium luxury stores in India under the Fortnum & Mason brand," one of the executives said. He said the group is exploring multiple options for India, which could include physical stores as well as an online presence in India.

A spokesperson for Reliance Retail said in an email revert that as a policy, the company does not comment on media speculation and rumours. "Our company evaluates various opportunities on an ongoing basis," the spokesperson Fortnum & Mason, which reported an annual turnover of £131 million in 2021, is pushing growth in Asian markets post pandemic, having started its first online store in China last month. In 2019, the luxury chain set up its first fully-owned and operated shop and restaurant in Hong Kong, paving the way for a large-scale presence in Asia.

New Delhi: A dramatic comeback of the food and beverage (F&B) industry and booming consumption post declining Covid-19 cases is boosting tieups and partnership talks between global brands and domestic companies.

India's restaurateurs are also eyeing ambitious global opportunities as other countries ease curbs.

Food is the new fashion, Darshan Mehta, managing director of Reliance Brands, said as India's largest luxury to premium retailer announced its foray into the F&B space in June end through a tieup with the global food chain Pret A Manger. Reliance Brands said it plans to launch the first outlet in Mumbai this fiscal year.

Akshay Anand, owner of Ophelia at The Ashok, who also launched Toy Room at Aloft Hotel in Delhi's Aerocity, said he is speaking to some "big" brands in London and is trying to get them to India. "We are in very advanced stages of discussions and are looking at high energy restaurants and bars," he said. "We are also in touch with some Michelin star restaurants in London and around the world."
