Minister to inaugurate CII TechNext, Web 3.0 international event on Nov 30

Chennai, Nov 29: Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) Chennai Zone will organise first of its kind event focusing exclusively on Web 3.0 "TechNext" in Chennai on November 30, 2022. Around 300 delegates from across the globe will attend the event.

T Mano Thangaraj, Minister of IT & Digital Services, Government of Tamil Nadu will be the Chief Guest and Inaugurate TechNext on November 30, and also launch the CII Report on Web 3.0.

Dr Neeraj Mittal, Principal Secretary, Information Technology, Government of Tamil Nadu and Dr Sanjay Tyagi, Director, Software Technology Parks of India (STPI), Chennai will be the Guest of Honours at the Inaugural Session.

Highlights of TechNext include, Hands-on creation of Metaverse Avatars, Tamil Nadu NFT Launch, AI on stage, Web 3.0 boot camps, and other activities along with an eminent list of global & Indian speakers addressing various sessions at the event. In addition to hearing the global lineup of speakers, attendees to CII TechNext will also enjoy a whole host of privileges. CII will also have an exclusive TechNext NFT Series, with various benefits beyond the event.

J Murugavel, Chairman, CII Chennai Zone, says, "People are aware of the noise and hype surrounding Web 3.0, however, it still remains a puzzle to many. Realizing this, CII has identified and invited the pioneers on Web 3.0 to share their insights at the event. These are not just users or early adopters but actual Web 3.0 business practitioners, entrepreneurs, and founders at the forefront of the Web 3.0 revolution, flying in from every corner of the world. This is an event of Future Tech, which outlines the core elements of Web 3.0 and a great enabler for Digital Startups across Tamil Nadu added Mr Murugavel Kewin George, Event Chair, CII TechNext says, "TechNext unmisses the opportunity of Web 3.0 economy. It's an event of inspiration and an enabler to experience future technologies such as Metaverse, NFT, AI, Digital Trust, and Blockchain. I'm sure this event will scale up the Emerging Tech Ecosystem of Tamilnadu".

Obesity & overweight are not same conditions

Chennai, Nov 29: Pregnancy weight gain is a common occurrence. Women gain at least a few kilograms of weight right from their first trimester. Weight gain during pregnancy is in fact the indicator of good health of the mother and the child and healthy pregnancy.

It is also vital to understand a very distinguishing difference between being slightly overweight and becoming obese. The lack of understanding will lead to women trying diets and cutting down the intake of food that is essential for a healthy pregnancy. Being overweight is defined as having a weight that exceeds the appropriate threshold for your current height. Obesity is a condition characterized by excessive and abnormal fat accumulation throughout the body. Obesity has a negative impact on human health.

Risk factors due to Obesity and Overweight

There are a lot of risk factors that occur due to fat accumulation. Being overweight is considered a risk factor for one's health. Being overweight causes high blood pressure and depression, whereas obesity is classified as a disease because it leads to a wide range of long-term health problems. Excessive fat accumulation leads to a variety of metabolic health issues, including diabetes, hypertension, high cholesterol, and an increased risk of heart disease and stroke as well. Obesity is also linked to arthritis, fatty liver, infertility, an increased risk of several cancers, and low quality of life and self-esteem. These double up with the other complications that arise due to pregnancy.

Conclusion

Being overweight and Obesity are not the same conditions, however, it is critical to obtain treatment as soon as possible before progressing from being overweight to obese and developing obesity-related diseases. A healthy diet and moderate physical activity can go a long way in monitoring the baby's weight gain during pregnancy.

Wartsila unveils sustainable energy transition study

Chennai, Nov 29: A first-of-its-kind power system study exploring a carbon neutral power system across the Indian states by 2050, carried out by Lappeenranta-Lahti University of Technology (LUT), Finland, in collaboration with the technology group Wärtsilä was published in the Nature Communications journal, a highly reputed and multidisciplinary journal dedicated to publishing high-quality research.

Wärtsilä, through this study highlights the importance of a cost optimal and carbon-neutral power system in India and explores a best policy rapid transition pathway towards integrating high shares of renewables into the power sector through comprehensive adoption of sustainable energy and flexible technologies by 2050. The pioneering study was investigated at a state level, which enables insights from a local perspective.

Delving into causes of hypothyroidism & how to manage it

Chennai, Nov 29: A healthy human body is often compared to a finely tuned and complex machine with all organs working properly. Several organs, such as the thyroid, produce 'behind the scenes' players called hormones which ensure that the body works the way it should.

The thyroid is a small butterfly-shaped gland present in the front of your neck and produces the thyroid hormones, thyroxine (T4) and triiodothyronine (T3). These are carried by the blood to every tissue of the body. Thyroid hormones determine how the body uses energy. They also keep other organs of the body such as the brain, heart and muscles working efficiently.

Women are more prone to develop hypothyroidism than men. In women of the reproductive age group (15-45 years), hypothyroidism results in excessive menstrual bleeding (27%-72%), irregular periods (5-26%), multiple ovarian cysts (21%-32%), fertility problems (22%-32%) and repeated pregnancy loss (4-15%). Untreated or insufficiently treated hypothyroidism in pregnant women can lead to neurological problems in the fetus. Hypothyroidism also runs in families. So, consult a doctor and get yourself checked regularly if you have a family history of thyroid dysfunction and are at greater risk.

Hypothyroidism is mainly of two types. Primary hypothyroidism occurs when the thyroid gland is directly affected (e.g. due to autoimmune disease or surgery). Secondary hypothyroidism takes place due to decreased activity of the pituitary gland, which indirectly influences the release of thyroid hormones by modulating Thyroid Stimulating Hormone (TSH). Some of the causes of hypothyroidism include: Autoimmune disease, Surgery of the thyroid gland (total or partial), Radioiodine treatment managed. Doctors treat hypothyroidism by replacing the thyroid hormone in the form of a tablet. The dose requirement varies from person-to-person and time-to-time. The treatment is often lifelong and may need to be modified over time. Hence, regular follow-ups and testing are essential for optimal therapy. Reach out to your doctor to know if you suffer from hypothyroidism.

Pega University programme transforms tech careers of 10,000 students

Chennai, Nov 29: The Pega University Program by Pegasystems and TalentSprint has launched tech careers of 10,000 students in the last 7 years. Starting with 2 partner colleges in 2016, this two-semester university-level curriculum on the cutting-edge Pega platform has now spread across 18+ partner colleges in India as of date. The holistic program enables third-year engineering college students to build robust capabilities in low-code technologies to secure a competition-proof career with the customers and partners of Pegasystems.

"As we strive for continued success, I extend my deep gratitude to our recruitment partners, implementation partner TalentSprint and partner universities/colleges. The Pega University Program has proven to be extremely effective in creating certified, ready-to-deploy young software engineers," said Deepak Visweswarai, vice president, platform engineering, and site managing director, Pegasystems, India.

"Our goal for 2023 is to place over 1,600 students. We aim to increase enrolment in Pega UAP by 20% next year and add three to four more universities to the program. In addition, we will prioritize talent and program quality while implementing Pega UAP India globally."

The Park introduces Sushi Dim Sum

Chennai, Nov 29: Six 'O' One, the iconic multi cuisine restaurant at THE Park Chennai that trail blazed trending food concepts since 2002, now launches an all new address for exclusive Dim Sums and Sushi. Introduction of Sushi and Dim Sum Bar at Six 'O'

One brings alive a concept of easy, light dining that would satiate any diner, whether for a quick and light working lunch or an unwinding, relaxed dinner. As you walk in to Six 'O' One, be pleasantly welcomed by the wafting aromas of steaming dim sums and colourful artistic renditions of Sushi. Executive Chef Ashutosh Nerlekar and his team have curated an exciting menu that pleases vegetarians and non-vegetarians alike. The menu features some classical cum familiar and some innovative takes on Sushi and Dim Sums.

QuackQuack sees 11% growth

Chennai, Nov 29: One of India's homegrown dating apps with 20 million users, QuackQuack, saw an 11% swell in the number of female users from Chennai, bringing a much-needed dip in the lopsided male-to-female daters ratio with only a difference of approximately seven thousand last month.

Their Founder and CEO, Ravi Mittal, said,

"We observed a drastic rise in chats from women in Chennai; we noticed approximately 348k chats in the last 2 months. As a dating app, the closing gap between the number of male and female users is encouraging, and we are looking toward making our platform even more secure for women to enjoy dating without safety concerns."
